A correspondent of one of the Rich mond newspapers says that if the State abolishes the fee system as a method of paying officeholders, it should then take steps to reduce the ees in many instances.

That is another question to be reckoned with. These charges, in many ases, are exorbitant and are unjustiable imposition on the victims. It is strange to us that the public has not risen up in protest long ago. We have in mind a case where a refined woman was humiliated by having her furniture attached. It was an unneessary proceeding, and as soon as the apers were served a friend stepped paid the claim and stopped the roceedings. But numberless papers been served and the total was more than 10 per cent. of the ntire claim.

The fee system is outrageously high and is kept high for the benefit of who collect the fees. There should be a reduction in any event. But if the State puts all her officeolders on a salary basis and takes iees for her part, that will make the change so much the more uncertain in its effect. The first thing to be done is to ascertain how much money is now collected in fees by the officeholders. Then the Legislature will know what to count on. Then the Legislature can make a pretty fair estimate as to whether or not the proposed change could be made withembarrassing the State treasury -Times-Herald.

Patients who otherwise would not visit physicians for diagnosis and treatment are coming to the dispensary. They are being carefully watched and are given all needful attention. Dr. Piecker predicts that the dispensary will be a great factor in reducing the hookworm infection.

As rapidly as possible new dispensaries will be opened.

Thoughts on the Sex. A woman can say more in a le han a man can in a book. When the bargain hunter's last dolar is spent, so is she. It takes a tender young widew to capture a tough old bachelor.
We never yet saw a woman so timid she wouldn't strike a bargain.

If a woman knows she's pretty, it's not because some other woman told shrug of a woman's shoulders an blast a reputation more effectively

She—Maud's twin brother annoys her dreadfuly.
He—How?
She—You see everybody knows they are twins, and poor Maud can't pass for only twenty-four, because he tells peo-ple he's thirty.

MARTYR REWARDED ONLY WITH A MEDAL

PORTSMOUTH, Horatio Drinkwater, hero of dred thrilling rescues from wrecked vessels, died here yesterday, follow-ing injuries he received in his last rescue. Though recognized as one of rescue. Though recognized as one of the bravest men in the United States the bravest men in the United Salife-saving service, Drinkwater had not been on the Government pay roll for more than seven years. The only for more than seven years. The only reward given him for his heroism that resulted in incapacitating him for labor was a congressional life-saving medal.

The life-saving reports in the Government's offices show that he per-formed some of the greatest feats of bravery of which the service has re-
